

Burns Residents Gather for their Rights Despite Government Intimidation.

For Immediate Distribution: Feb 3rd 2016

With support of the Coalition of Western States, the Center for Self Governance held in depth Constitution and self-governance training in Burns last week, following classes from Constitutional attorney KrisAnne Hall, which brought together more than 300 in the rural community.

Burns residents have seen the result of government overreach in recent weeks and are seeking solutions to reign in government. Despite attempts from Harney County officials like Judge Steve Grasty to prevent educational meetings from occurring. Around 25 community members gathered for the in depth training.

C.O.W.S members continue work to bring facts to light and help communities stand up for their liberties.

More info:
centerforselfgovernance.com
krisannehall.com

The Coalition of Western States represents over 50 legislators, elected delegates and grassroots leaders predominantly in the Western United States dedicated to stopping government overreach. – COWS and it's members from Washington, Oregon, Idaho, Arizona, Nevada, Utah, Montana and New Mexico stand ready to oppose continued federal overreach and abuse, support the rule of law and restore management of public lands to the States where it Constitutionally belongs.

#

For more information email: contactcows@gmail.com